Candor Dat Viribus Alas

Truth gives wings to strength

Foreword

AS four years of difficulty and ease; sadness and joy; gravity and levity, spin rapidly toward memory, leaving the tangible world forever, we are immediately driven to the beginning of a seemingly interminable, unpaved, untrodden highway. Not a streetlamp is visible, nor a sign post nor any verdant foliage — not a sound can be heard. The vast population seems a fantasy as we are encompassed by nothing but solemn desolation. The road winds gradually uphill, ribboning farther away, farther until merely an infinite horizon is manifest, a horizon which seems to yearn for a conquerer.

And conquer it we must if we are to attain satisfaction — We, as sole engineers must build the path ahead, for we dare not relinquish our seat on the council of intelligent participation in the world community.

Each even batch of mortar spread, each tree planted by the roadside gives us an added sense of fulfillment. We gradually learn to cope with all impediments, strange faces and spiritual upheavals. There is no point to slothful production because we all want to enjoy life and only a useful and constructive one can be enjoyed. Too quickly do the milestones turn to headstones. The past must be rarely considered, but for short moments of ecstacy; the present must be wisely improved; we must go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear and with strong hearts.

But as we toil and sweat, laugh and cry, let us build ourselves a stool, have a seat, wipe our brows and take that ecstatic jaunt backwards as we turn the pages of this book — the META of nineteen hundred sixty-five.

Dedication=

Anna B. Carroll

ONLY by total proficiency brought to fruition by constant, lasting effort and sincerity can one attain true excellence. Through excellence does one gain admiration. Miss Anna B. Carroll, whose unassuming yet truly interested attitude has affected a vast number of this graduating class, may be counted among the elite of the teaching profession. So, it is with the greatest sense of pride and honor that this class dedicate its yearbook, the Meta of nineteen hundred and sixty-five.

One of the celebrities of Peabody Vocational, Tony without a doubt is a well liked individual whose presence gives all a sense of ease. His place in life is not too tall or too short but of an equal standing among all great men.

Vocational Club 2, 3, 4

Gail A.
Anderson

Gail, with her vital personality is an asset to any class and we're proud to have her. Gail, is quiet until you really get her going and then she's really "on the beam." We all wish Gail the best of luck at Aggie where she will take up hairdressing.

Linda E.
Anstey

A girl who is always smiling and never needs cheering up. Linda enjoys horse back riding and we've heard that she's pretty good at it. After graduation, Linda looks toward the business world, and her fellow classmates wish her all possible happiness.

Deanna L.
Ashley

Deanna is a very courteous and ambitious member of our senior class. She has been active in many school functions. After graduation she plans a college education, her goal being a teaching career. The class of '65 wishes you the best of luck Deanna!

Richard L. Beliveau

Rick is one of the quietest and one of the politest of the senior boys. He plans to join the Air Force after graduation and intends to go on to college after that and major in History. We're sure he'll be successful.

Kathleen M.
Bell

An enthusiastic girl who is always trying to do her best for the senior class, is our Kathy. Her interests of water skiing and playing the piano show her versatility, seriousness of purpose, and vivacity. Her shy smile and sweet nature, have won her many lasting friendships. May she so continue throughout life!

The Best of Times

September 6, 1961 was perhaps the most glorious day Peabody High has ever seen — "we" began our four year career as its greatest class. That was back in the days when the bell pierced the ears at 8:10 and brought us ecstacy at 2:05: a long day indeed! During the first few nervous days many of us failed to reach homeroom on time, perhaps because of the hectic minutes we spent looking for the third floor elevator. And when we consider that trek to the top, it does seem logical.

Needless to say, lunch hour always highlighted our school sojourn. It was funny how the bell acquired an aptitude for ringing just as we had purchased a hot lunch — just as a clean table caught our glance. Ah well! Fourth period teachers were always most understanding anyhow.

Remember the day we marched to the library by homerooms to be "mugged". We were justified in shuddering when we learned that those atrocious portraits were part of our lasting school records.

Wednesdays and Fridays were refreshing days—for periods were shortened and we were able to study in our homerooms, or contemplate the weekend or just to think.

And then on a damp, sordid, unappetizing morning which seemed to give the Devil a playground for chicanery, we were informed by Mr. Barry that one of the former's disciples had announced the threat of a bomb. The only course open to the student body was immediate and total evacuation into the biting wind, the soaking rain. Perhaps because of the whirlwind of events or more aptly escapist impulses many students boarded the nearest Eastern Mass. bus and fled homeward. Who will forget it!

And our second home — the Donut Shop was perennially beckoning to our stomachs from across Central Street. 'Tis a puzzle that we find that smiling, jovial lady who so indulgently waited upon us, still in the same mental and physical condition.

It seems that this was the year that the poor planning of city officials manifested itself by double sessions. Oh what pain it was to rise at 6 a.m., though a noon departure seemed a holiday. Starting class at 7:40 was not conducive to happy feelings, as a matter of fact, we didn't feel much at all at that time of morning.

Candy machines were installed by Mr. Yonis this year, which gave birth to the "before-the-bell-to-get-a-candy-bar-rush." It was all part of the fun though, because if one didn't manage to get a bar in time, he could always mooch off a luckier pal.

Our third year at the High school was an important one. It seemed at last we were upperclassmen with the sagacity and pomposity to look down on two very inexperienced classes. Yet it was also a year of emotion, a year of worry, a year of complete ecstacy. Of worry because the "all mighty" college boards first came to blacken our doorsteps. Of joy because Proms and sixteenth birthdays shone with bright sunshine and starry skies.

The first social event was the Junior Hop which, guided by both pupil and teacher, packed a wallop of laughs and fun.

Then came our long awaited rings — the rings which were too small, too large — but good enough to show off to any underclassmen and good enough to wear proudly all through the senior year — be it around a finger or a neck.

Late in the month of May the boys were seen in droves entering flower shops and exiting with corsages—picking up tuxedoes and appearing very nervous and self-conscious. Girls had bought expensive gowns and were not a little wary about the evening which would be their first formal, the evening which would transform all Juniors into graceful and serene young men and women — The Junior Prom. It goes without saying that with Moon River slowly bubbling by the shores of dreamers cove, sighs of wonderment and happiness poured from all hearts throughout the evening.

The senior year was the best of times. It was the age of wisdom; it was the epoch of belief, the season of light; it was the spring of hope. It held discontent and sadness and delusions — the one year we shall not forget.

We hanged the Witches 29-0. The cheerleaders got a tanning from the football team after an "intramural" football game. At the Senior Barn Dance the class realized its first profit and judging from the vast multitude present it was quite a haul.

On December 29, 1964 the best Christmas Ball ever was held at The Thomson Club to the music of Ken Reeves. We complimented one another on our attractive apparel and danced admirably throughout the evening.

Again the evil college boards, but even the Senior year isn't perfect.

Sad too was the departure, after many years of faithful service, of Mr. Timothy McCarthy.

Then we look back through the years to Yo-Yo Day as the boys displayed their adroit hands and the girls stood mute with wonder.

Why so many cars on the highway? It was Mr. Bill Cronin who put them there.

The beginning and the end seemed readily at hand when our last lessons — marching, singing and speaking took the fold at Graduation practice.

The festive mood and good meal were realized by all at our wonderful banquet.

Unlike the usual social event, the last — our Senior Reception was filled with nostalgia, and poignant familiarity. It was the final gathering 'till the big day.

And then it came like a thunderbolt of Zeus. The end, not of a test, nor a dance, nor a class, but of 4 years of high school. The impending future and waning past pervaded our thoughts. We were through — the beginning was at hand.

THE DECA CREED

I believe in the future which I am planning for myself in the field of distribution, and in the opportunities which my vocation offers.

I believe in fulfilling the highest measure of service to my vocation, my fellow beings, my country and my God — that by doing so, I will be rewarded with personal satisfaction and material wealth.

I believe in the democratic philosophies of private enterprises and competition and in the freedoms of this nation — that these philosophies allow for the fullest development of my individual abilities.

I believe that by doing my best to live according to these high principles, I will be of greater service both to myself and to mankind.

Jack Kehoe and Jim Davis under the watchful eye of Mr. Flynn.

Distributive Education Clubs of America

DECA is a national organization in which students from all over the United States exchange knowledge and ideas pertaining to distribution and retailing. The purposes of DECA are: 1) To develop a respect for education in Marketing and Distribution, which will contribute to Vocational Competence. 2) To promote the growth and development of DECA. 3) To promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free competitive enterprise system.

During the year the entire class participated in many money and non-money making projects. The Stop & Shop, Giant-Valu, Save-Mor, and the I.G.A. cooperated with us in permitting us to use spaces in their stores for cake sales. All students made cakes for the sales.

Every year the Peabody Chapter of DECA distributes four baskets to the local public assistance department. Each student is asked to donate canned or packaged goods or to make a monetary contribution towards these baskets. Baskets are carried to the city's Public Assistance Office. Through this department they are diverted to a needy family. The four baskets are presented at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter times, and prior to Memorial Day.

On January 9, 1965, "Jack and the Spades" played at a DECA dance. Jackie Brooks, a member of the '65 D.E. Class, is leader of this popular band.

The proceeds derived from these projects are used to send students to Chicago to a National Convention. The students sent are chosen in this way: A State Leadership Conference is held in March at the Statler Hilton in Boston. Students with the necessary qualifications enter any of 17 contests. The winners are then eligible to compete on a national level. This year the D. E. class was fortunate enough to bring home to P.H.S. many honors. They are as follows:

Gwen Rambis was chosen as the Massachusetts DECA Sweetheart; Patricia McEwen was elected as the State Vice-President and was also runner-up in the Student of the Year Award; Joann Maggio placed second in the Shadow Box Display contest and was winner of the Sears Roebuck Award.

Much effort, preparation and spirit goes into the manuals, projects, Sweetheart and Student of the Year contests.

In the event that there is money left in the DECA treasury at the close of the school year, it is channeled through a welfare agency which will select a local underprivileged child and send the youngster to camp for a week's summer vacation. Additional surplus funds may be used as a DECA gift to our Peabody High School.

Superlatives elected for the 1965 Deca Class were: Mr. Flynn's class: Joann Maggio, Judith Caden, Denice Putnam, Linda Kravchuck, Dorothy Meniates and Kathy Zetes. Also Ralph Howcroft, John Kehoe, Robert Walters and John Couper. Mr. Brawley's class: Patricia McEwen, Gwen Rambis, Dorothy Pyburn, Sharon Hunt, Richard Howcroft, Joseph Popiel, Robert Reardon, James Retos and Kenneth Tibbetts.

The students wish to thank all who helped in any way to make the year of 1965 the successful one that it was. We are particularly grateful to our Principal, Mr. Arthur J. Barry, who had expended much time and effort into directing our program. We owe a debt of gratitude to him.

Teacher coordinators of DECA are Mr. Edward Brawley and Mr. Thomas P. Flynn. Mr. Flynn is to be commended for rendering such excellent service and advice during this, his first year as a coordinating-teacher. Both he and Mr. Brawley have endeavored to make the Peabody Chapter of DECA strong and sucessful.

Class office are: Mr. Flynn's class, President, John Symbarski; Vice-President, Eileen Hodge; Secretary, Joann Maggio; Treasurer, Sandra Scolaro; Historian, Judith Caden; Parliamentarian, John Kehoe. Mr. Brawley's class, President, Kenneth Tibbetts; Vice-President, Patricia McEwen; Secretary, Gwen Rambis; Treasurer, Richard Howcroft, Historian, Marlene Dumas, Parliamentarian, Diane Bezemes.

The Library Ran Efficiently With Its Capable Staff

During the morning and afternoon sessions, the Library Staff worked in shifts under the supervision of our librarian, Mr. David P. Collins. Each shift consisted of two girls, studying in the library each period. Several girls worked as librarians before the beginning of each school session. From the administering of permits, to checking books, to general maintenance, these girls worked diligently to make our library both neat and efficient.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society was founded by The National Association of School Principals in 1921. Their purpose was to procure recognition for outstanding high school students. It is devoid of all commercialism and is elevated to the best professional interests of education. Presently there are over 7,500 high school chapters throughout the nation.

The National Honor Society provides scholarships, awards and certificates of merit based upon the results of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Each high school that wishes to begin a chapter must first elect a title for it and then register in Washington, D. C. A committee of teachers is chosen and a chairman is elected from amongst them. The committee regulates its own rules for membership which must be based upon scholarship, service, leadership and character.

At Peabody High School the chapter has been named The George Peabody Chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools. In choosing our committee, we attempted to select at least one teacher from each department in the high school. The members are:

Mr. James Arnold
Department of Social Studies

Mr. Arthur Barry
Principal

Miss Anna Carroll
Mathematics Department

Mr. John Bezemes
Commercial Department

Miss Jessie Costello
Guidance Department

Mrs. Marie Fennessey
Science Department

Miss Catherine Murphy
Department of Social Studies

Miss Helen O'Keefe
Homemaking Department

Miss Ann V. O'Neill
Guidance Department

Mr. John Sullivan
Department of Social Studies

Mr. D. Edward Gorman
English Department

They elected Mrs. Marie Fennessey as chairman.

The objectives of this chapter are:

a.) to create enthusiasm for scholarship

b.) to stimulate a desire to render service

c.) to promote worthy leadership

d.) to encourage development of character

The rules for eligibility set up by the committee are as follows:

All members marks must be in the 90's with the exception of one which must be eighty-five or above.

Deportment must be "A".

The candidate must be a Junior or a Senior.

The candidate must be a member of Peabody High School for at least two quarters.

He or she must also be a member of at least two high school organizations.

Members are chosen at the end of each marking period with the exception of the last quarter.

An active member who falls below the standards set for his election shall be placed on probation for one term. If, after one term, he has not met the standards, he will be dropped upon recommendation of the committee.

A member wha has been dropped can always reinstate himself by merely meeting the qualifications.

COIN CLUB - PEABODY'S NEWEST

COIN CLUB

Trading sessions, lectures of mutual interest, seminars on local coin news and much more took place at each meeting of the youngest and most up-to-date organization yet to be formed at P.H.S. From time to time, various members gave lectures dealing with today's numismatic problems, after which followed stimulating question and answer periods.

Thanks to its able advisor, Miss McLaughlin and its elected officers, Tom Wall, founding President: Ralph Swain, Vice-President: Reg Marden, Treasurer; Am Herbster, Corresponding Secretary and Steve Moore, Recording Secretary, the year progressed rapidly and the Coin Club became an organization of which Peabody High could be proud.

SKI CLUB MEMBERS SAW LITTLE REST IN 1965

POLITICS DISCUSSED AT P. H. S.

PRACTICAL POLITICS

The time: 12:00-2:30, Thursday afternoons.

The place: Peabody High School Library.

The topic: Practical Politics.

The advisor: Mr. Sam Wilde.

The sponsor: Bell Telephone.

The purpose: To complete succesfully an Action Course thereby becoming equipped to contribute to better government by participating effectively in the political processes of the community, state, and nation.

Each week, after having read an appropriate booklet and having studied a practical problem, eleven boys and girls would take their places at the conference table to discuss the material in an attempt to co-ordinate ideas for the most effective method of handling statistics and people. Individual reports concerning governmental function and philosophy were given periodically by the students. Everything was absorbed by all — interest faded rarely. Sam Wilde conducted the seminars proficiently with a ready ear, perked for the fresh thoughts continuously flowing from the students' minds.

Many months of training and work consummated with several hours of victuals and humor. Everyone enjoyed his Filet Mignon, or lobster and creme de menthes devoured at a local restaurant attended by two lawmakers. Both spoke candidly and answered queries freely concerning state problems and general politics. The highlight of the afternoon came with the presentation of beautifully engraved and well earned diplomas.

Three months of Thursdays truly impressed a wealth of knowledge on the minds of eleven boys and girls from Peabody High School.

Student Council Earns Respect For P. H. S.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Under the presidency of Wendy Brunning and the competent guidance of Mr. James E. Arnold, our student council has performed many worthwhile civic and school projects. Co-ordinately seeding harmonious relationships between student and faculty, chartering school clubs and promoting the general welfare of P.H.S., the council, financially assisted by the well known candy machines, was able to furnish the school with several flags, Memorial Day flowers, sponsor a bloodmobile and contribute to the Red Cross and Salvation Army. The council should be highly lauded for its untiring efforts in behalf of retarded children. The candles were kept burning by members at the home of our office chief, Mrs. Ruth Connelly, preparing envelopes, city lists and planning for a related movie to be shown in the auditorium. The kick-off for the drive was at the Salem-Peabody game where members solicited funds at half-time. The collection was forerunner to a truly successful campaign.

In order to serve the school more thoroughly and efficiently members of the student council attended the annual state convention where a time of fun and learning was had by all.

A final word must be inserted and that is — THANKS — to friend, advisor and teacher, James Arnold without whom the council would find much difficulty in performing its duties. The Student Council of 1965 has been a credit to our school. May it continue to function sucessfully in the future!

1964-65 FOOTBALL TEAM

The fans were treated to another thrilling season as the "Tanners" moved out onto the field to display their athletic talent. Looking back at the individual games we find the "Tanner's" 3-5-1 record quite deceiving. The only bad beating suffered was at the hands of Lowell, which boasted one if its finest teams in years. After a slow start against Beverly, Peabody picked up 12 points in the second half. The Black and Red, however, were too powerful to overcome and Gloucester smashed us by sixteen points. Lawrence finished with an eight point lead.

On the other hand, the three Tanner victories were overwhelming. We pulverized St. John's Prep by a rousing 23 points, and in the highlight of the season, an inspired Tanner squad literally trampled the Witches in a 29-0 victory. Peabody continued her streak by subduing a visiting team from Nashua. Coach "Art" Adamopoulos will have to fill a few holes in the line left by John DeLucca, John Gaieski and Mike Sarowski. Jim MacLean leaves a vacancy at quarterback, while a halfback hole dug by Paul Trull will have to be filled. As the 1965 Tanners relinquish their pigskin we feel confident that succeeding classes will carry on the tradition of the "fighting Tanners of P.H.S."

1964-65 BATON SQUAD

Agility and Charm Brighten the Gridiron

"Practice makes perfect." This old saying is the motto of the Peabody High School Baton Squad. The members of the squad work year-round practicing their many twirls for their performances at the P.H.S. football games. And what a fine job they do!

In June, 1964 try-outs were held for new members of the squad and also for the competitive positions for the next school year. At this time the following four girls were chosen out of all the senior members to display their talents in positions of leadership: Band Leader, Karen Wood; Squad Leader, Sandra Zaiger; Soloists, Carol Jablonka and Carol Reid.

As a reward for their faithful service to the squad, senior members were presented with either a blazer or a sweater, depending upon their preference, displaying their membership in this organization. The members of '65 are: Gail Barry, Janet Curreri, Marilyn Heckman, Carol Jablonka, Soloist; Maureen Keating, Judy Penttila, Carol Reid, Soloist; Karen Wood, Leader; Anne Yee. Sandra Zaiger, Leader; Eileen Zalanskas, Linda Zielinski.

HOCKEY

Under the direction of Coach Charles Carlin. the Peabody High hockey team turned in a creditable performance. The team lost several games in the last few seconds of play. and several others by one and two goal margins.

The best games for the Tanners were against Swampscott, Amesbury, and Salem. In the game against a powerful Swampscott team Peabody jumped out to an early 1-0 lead on a goal by Doug Macione. Then late in the third period Swampscott went ahead 3-1 on a flurry of three goals in a very short time. Then Peabody came back with two goals. Art Atkinson scored the second one with less than a minute to play. Then Swampscott came back to win 4-3 with thirty seconds left to play. In the Amesbury game, Peabody went ahead 1-0 on a first period goal by Reggie Marden from his right defense posiiton. The score remained that way until half way through the third period when Marden connected again to make the final score 2-0 in favor of Peabody. Against traditional rival Salem. Peabody took an early 1-0 lead. Then Salem tied the score 1-1. Then on a third period goal by Hank Morris, Peabody won 2-1.

Peabody was never able to get its full attack going this year due to injuries and sickness to several key players, one of whom was senior Billy Callahan. For these reasons in the game against St. John's Prep, Peabody had just enough men to put a team on the ice. and so had to settle for a tie with a team they ordinarily would have beaten.

Art Atkinson and Hank Morriss, this year's co-captanis, led the team in all its games. Atkinson played both forward and defense while Morriss was a center. Rotating at defense this year were Atkinson, Reggie Marden and Brad MacGregor. Seniors who played on the lines were Moriss, Paul Krissovich, Larry Lancaster, Doug Macione, and Greg Tashjian. Our goalie, Fred Nowak, was noted for quickness with his glove and his Polaroid camera. His candid locker room photos were heard of throughout the school.

The team received greater support from the student body than in past years. and always rewarded the fans by playing with fervor and determination.

Admirable Record for 1964-65 X-Country Team

Even though P.H.S. is on the double platoon system and this was our first year in the Essex County Cross Country League, the Tanner harriers burst through the finish line of the season with a very good league record of 3-3. Peabody lost to St. Mary's, Lynn Classical and Saugus, while defeating Lynn Trade, Bishop Fenwick and Lawrence Central. We also halved our non-league meets, 1-1, beating Gloucester but losing to Lawrence.

The Tanner runners also competed in the Catholic Memorial and State Meet, both held at Boston's White Stadium and the Yankee Division League Meet which was held at Breakheart in Salem. At the latter meet, Peabody finished fourth out of the seven teams in our league.

Battling for first place was the Junior Jet, Gary Kolonvich and the Senior Speedster Reggie Marden. One or the other of these boys usually crossed the finish line first, bringing victory to Peabody. Running close behind in their usual order of finish were seniors Bruce Nelson, Captain Dick Lynch, Tom Wall, Alan Moore, Jim Cherney, Ken Johnson, Mark Weisman and juniors, George Baltoumas, Jay Levy and Dave Kolhonen.

Although the team ran to its best record this year, the credit should go to its able coach, Walter Birmingham, without whom the Harriers would

Although the P.H.S. basketball team did not appear too impressive in the Essex County League standings, they did an outstanding job despite playing under adverse conditions. Because the P.H.S. gym was not available for the games, the team played its home games at Lynn English High.

Nick Spiliotis, captain and center for the Tanners, kept team spirit and moral at a very high level throughout the season. Nick, although the smallest center in the league, showed some of the "big boys" what the game was all about. Playing at the forward positions were Demit Maistrellis and Jim Duggin. "Demit", a senior, worked hard in helping to pull down many of the rebounds from both the offensive and defensive boards. "Demit's" shot was greatly improved as he was able to score with the "long bomb". Jim Duggan, a junior, utilized his height to great advantage and showed great potential for the coming year. Starting in the guard positions were Jackie Irving and "Bubba" Shestapol. Jack played consistently well throughout the year, displaying both good ball handling and sharp shooting. "Bubba" was the high scorer for the team, exhibiting great accuracy with the long outside shot. The Tanners had fine bench support in Bill Reuell, Jim Geanoulis, Jim MacDonald, and Ralph Raphael.

The spirit displayed in the stands and the enjoyment of the games by all, certainly made the basketball season one of the highlights of the senior year.

Track Team Overcomes Saugus To Win League Title

Although hampered by double sessions, both Coach Walter Birmingham and Captain Reggie Marden were pleased with the sizeable turnout. Veterans include: Reg Marden, leader of the pack and fine middle distance man; Dave Blancherd, a boy well trained in the short distances, covering the 100 yard dash in 10.5 seconds. He broadjumped more than 20 feet. Dick Lynch and Bruce Nelson were our major milers. Mark Weisman runs the 880. The discus saw much action with "Big Neck" Spiliotis. Important relay man and 440 runner was Jim Spiliotis. Another fine broadjumper and discus thrower was Jim Davis. Always pulling the points at the end was 440 man Pete Katsoulas. Al Moore does the 440 and broadjump. Tom Wall is another fine miler. Little Nick Spiliotis was the finest discus man on the track team for many a year and scored admirably many times. Dan Woloshen, Am Herbster and Ralph Swain numbered among our field men. Neil Richman ranks as one of our foremost hurdlers. Newer men include versatile Bob White, both a field and track man: javelin and mile man Chuck Schultz, and short distance runner Paul Lyons. Peabody had an excellent relay team in 1965 and left Coach Birmingham with plenty of material for the 1966 season. As this book went to press, the Tanners won a 61½-60½ victory over Saugus to take the League Championship.

Class Will

We the graduating class of nineteen hundred sixty-five, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do now make and publish this, our last will and testimony in order, as justly as we may, to distribute our interests in the world among the members of the class of nineteen hundred sixty-six: Our first departing duty being the importuning of omnipotent God to bless the succeeding class with all the happiness and good fortune that the SENIOR year does, by nature, hold. So said;

Neil Richman leaves his duties as class president to his successor. Most fortunate indeed will be the hockey team of 1966, for Artie Atkinson and Hank Morriss bestow their skill on the ice to Gerry Murphy.

Reg Marden bequests his worn out track shoes to Gary Kolonovich!

To any junior with a profound interest in hieroglyphics, Steve Gaman leaves a sample of his illustrious penmanship.

The legacy of Carol Goyette to Dianne Jablonka is her commendable secretarial aptitude.

Next year's shop will be fortunate indeed without the stalwart helmsmanship of Steve Georgian.

Rick Meserve offers upon departure, his good looks to Richard Robertson (although the latter needs them not.)

To Leo Remis frm Mike Murano — a putter of great value.

Wendy Goldstein is the recipient of Barbara Nelson's pen and brush.

Editors of our Yearbook, Barb White and Don Woolshen, wish luck to next year's literary geniuses.

While Observer chiefs, Sue Backman and Cheryl Van Bobo, bequeath their tedious toils to next year's Tennysons.

A very battered pigskin is Jim MacLean's gift to the succeeding football team.

Linda Sousa is the heiress to the enchanting smile of Kathy Keon.

We place the financial burdens of Jimmy Geanoulis on the treasurer of "66".

Paul Polansky relinquishes to Mike Saxon his slide rule and intuitive genius.

Queen of the female intelligentsia, Judy Pentilla, leaves AMBITION to any Junior with the courage and will to pursue that elusive word.

Wendy Brunning wills her popularity to Reene Carlson.

The qualities of fun and pep are bequeathed to all of next year's cheerleaders by Holly, Janey, Sandy, Marie, Aleta, Carol, Randi and Linda.

And to the class of 1966 — few coins are left due to the chicanery of Tom Wall and his numismatic cronies.

Kathleen O'Leary leaves her sparkling Irish eyes to some pert Junior Colleen.

Merry Mulley is lucky to inherit some of Sheila Segelman's charm.

The already endowed Jack Duggan receives added basketball prowess from Nick Spiliotis while . . . .

The Rah! Rah! Rah! of Chuck Schultz and Bruce Nelson is willed to Butch Coviello.

To Carl Bane, Dick Lynch leaves his (?) lab experiments.

Though Gail Barry and Maureen Keating insist on retaining most of their wonderful friendship, they shall save a bit for Jane Ercha and Paula Marchewka.

Chuck Comora has a bundle of electrical wires for Johnny Wojick.

The royal crowns of Dianne Ventresca to next year's monarchs go.

Any courageous Junior who has no fear of wrangled limbs shall receive Richie Bettencourt's skis.

May some quiet sixty-sixer be endowed with the verbosity of Linda Adamopoulos.

The days grow short. Our High School life is reaching a tangible end: but we the executrices of this will — Sandy, Marie, Ellen and Carol — know well that our memories of Peabody High School shall never cease to flourish in the verdant pastures of our hearts.
